My Bed

Ohhhhhhhh bliss.....
Wrapped in your security....
Wrapped in your safety
Wrapped in your warmth
Wrapped in your love
Let me bask in your company
Just a few more minuets
When the time comes for me to leave
I never want to go
Here is where I truly rest
Here is where I reenergise
You help me recover when I feel sick
You hold me
I crawl into you when I feel vulnerable
Here is where I feel held
Here is where I feel safe
Aaaaaahhhhhhhh!
Enveloping me in your warmth
Your softness wraps around me

But sweetness is accompanied by bitterness.
Here is where my most sacred boundaries have been crossed.
Where I didn't say yes...
But I didn't say no
Woken up in drunken confusion...
Wondering....
Why are you on top of me?
Why is your hard-on in my hand?
I just want to go back to sleep
Get it over with as fast as possible.....
So I can go back to sleep...
I was asleep....
I've bled and soiled every sheet with my shame.
How can you be so safe and unsafe all at the same time?
I invited you into my bed not into my body.
My place of safety taken from me simply by being willing to share it.
